

Quality Policy

M_02.2.3 rev.0

Asola Vetro Srl is a company specialising in the processing and transformation of technical glass.

Founded in the nineteen sixties as an artisan firm producing glass products for public building works, the company has broadened its range, entering the sector of commercial refrigeration and specialising in heated glass technology. Today, Asola Vetro operates with dynamism and professionalism, offering solutions that are technologically and aesthetically at the cutting edge, made with latest-generation automatic equipment and IT systems.

The Management System of Asola Vetro Srl is based on the following fundamental principles:

- Constant commitment of the entire organization to fully satisfy the expectations of customers
- Technical expertise in the production of products with Heated Glass as an important and characterizing element of the service provided to Customers for industrial refrigeration
- Management approach based on the analysis of the context, on the assessment of risks for the various areas and on the satisfaction of the requirements of the standards adopted as a reference for the management system, UNI EN ISO 9001: 2015
- Consideration of the expectations coming from the interested parties, and of the repercussions that company choices can have on the territorial and environmental context in which it operates
- Protection of the health and safety of workers and the natural environment, and more generally compliance with the obligations and obligations deriving from current legislation, as indispensable requirements and integrated with company management strategies
- Involvement of staff in the process of improving the performance of the organization, and of the quality management system
- Investment in staff training and training, for a full knowledge of company rules and procedures, and more generally of the correct operating procedures for carrying out their respective duties to ensure awareness of the role in the organization
- Periodic monitoring of processes in order to identify improvement objectives
- Management commitment to periodically review the Management System and implement continuous improvement.

These principles, which the management of Asola Vetro Srl has adopted, represent an effective guide for planning corporate objectives.

Asola, 18/12/2020

Approved: DG